

Litigation Perspective

The litigation that The Episcopal Church has filed in Tarrant County needs to be put in proper perspective for your understanding and to obtain a sense of peace in your heart.

First, the litigation is contrary to First Corinthians 6: 1-7. Thus, God is not the author of the suit although He has allowed it to happen.

Second, the response to the suit by your leaders is based on sound law that if followed by the court, should result in a defeat for those bringing the litigation.

Third, The Episcopal Church is asking for property that it did not buy nor does it have any legal or ecclesiastical right to receive.

Fourth, your leaders who have been sued have conducted themselves in accordance with law, pertinent ecclesiastical documents and the Scriptures.

Fifth, the response of your leaders seeks no relief from the court that is contrary to any Scripture.

Sixth, the response of your leaders to those suing them will be in a Christ-honoring manner, whether in or out of court.

Seventh, pray for those representing your leaders that God will lead and guide so that God is glorified in all that is done.

Eighth, pray for the leaders of The Episcopal Church and the others who have brought the suit that they will hear and obey what God would have them do.

Ninth, pray that your leaders and all who support them will be a good testimony to those who do not know the Lord who are watching the litigation so these lost people will not be discouraged from seeking Jesus. This includes speaking no evil of those who have brought the suit.

Tenth, pray for each court before whom the suit goes that God will protect each from any influence other than His and justice will be basis for every ruling.
